How To Order

- Most clients find it difficult to visualise an album design from their own galleries. Peter suggests you make a list of your favourite images using the first three digits under each image in your online galleries. He will select others using his art and design skills to tell the story of your day. He will ask you for your general design preferences – you could browse the online sample albums to get some ideas.
- Submit your list with this document
- If you require an album designed with photo files supplied by you rather than shot by Ashton Lamont please pay 50% of the total cost up front. This is the design fee and is not refundable in any circumstances. Please ensure that your files are of sufficient size and quality – Peter can check these files before you commit. Please supply the files, preferably unedited and in the “RAW” format, on a disc or USB drive, or via an online sharing service e.g. Dropbox.
- Peter will design your album layout. Review the design via your page on the Ashton Lamont website. Request any minor edits or confirm your approval by email. Major edits may incur additional charges. Submit the remaining 50% of the cost. Then your album will be manufactured.
- Please be aware that album design and manufacture is a complex process and can take a lengthy period depending partly on the time of year. Peter can give you updates but normally please allow around six weeks for delivery from the point where you approve the design and pay your final instalment.
